The PLUTA attorney Mr Stefan Kahnt said, “Reducing the number of branches is a difficult, but necessary step in the restructuring process. Business operations are continuing at 21 branches. Now the task is to find a buyer for the bakery. Currently we are holding promising talks with several investors.” The insolvency administrator is aiming at giving the traditional bakery and the employees good prospects of a successful future.

The company had to file for insolvency on account of liquidity problems in June. Following this, the Local Court of Chemnitz appointed Mr Stefan Kahnt from PLUTA Rechtsanwalts GmbH as the provisional insolvency administrator for Gellertstadt Bäckerei GmbH. The company is a traditional producer of baked goods with headquarters in Hainichen, the city in which the German poet Gellert was born.
