acquisition of the window manufacturer based in Elsnigk, Saxony-Anhalt, was a strategic move. The window manufacturing operations of the insolvent Gussek Group will round out the Gerdes GmbH portfolio going forward and ensure a broader product range.

“The idea of acquiring the business was floated at very short notice,” said Mr Peter Simon-Höke. “We viewed this as a unique opportunity to expand our portfolio through the addition of the established site in Elsnigk and gain highly dedicated staff.”

Gerdes GmbH, a family business with its third generation at the helm, is one of the leading fabricators of Schüco products in Germany and the Netherlands. Founded in 1949 and with its headquarters and production facilities in Lengerich, Emsland, the company also has subsidiaries in Sögel, Lower Saxony, and Oldenzaal in the Netherlands. With some 150 employees, Gerdes manufactures windows, front doors and sliding doors made from aluminium and PVC in proven Schüco quality as well as fire-resistant doors for fire and smoke protection, mullion/transom façades and internal partitions in aluminium. Now it will also offer wooden and wood-aluminium elements.

No possibility of an overall solution for the group

The Gussek Group, a long-established supplier of prefabricated houses based in Nordhorn, Lower Saxony, filed for insolvency for its operating companies in late August 2024. On 1 November 2024, the Local Court of Nordhorn, as the competent court, opened the insolvency proceedings for Gussek-Haus Franz Gussek GmbH & Co.
